

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

A multi-authored publication such as this is an enormous team effort. With so many contributors from all continents of the world, our thanks go first and foremost to all the distinguished authors.

Moreover, we are very grateful to the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung which generously supported this enormous project in its various phases including the publication itself. In September 2012 the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung Rule of Law Program for Sub-Saharan Africa in collaboration with the Faculty of Law of the University of Stellenbosch, South Africa, held two consecutive conferences, one on Climate Change and Governance and another on Climate Change, Legal Responses and Global Responsibility in Stellenbosch, South Africa. The conferences deliberated on the effects and the legal aspects of climate change on governance and other pertinent issues. The participants – many of them also represented in this publication – comprised international experts drawn from around the world.

Our special thanks go to Professor Dr. Hans-Gert Poettering (Member of the European Parliament and President of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung); Dr. Gerhard Wahlers (Deputy Secretary-General of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung); and Dr. Christian Hübner (Coordinator for Environmental, Climate and Energy Affairs of the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung) for their continuous support.

We also thank NOMOS Publishers Baden-Baden and particularly Professor Dr. Johannes Rux and Dr. Phillipp Küsgens for their professional support.
